About The Help Group

The Help Group Learning Center is a program of The Help Group, one of the largest, most innovative and comprehensive nonprofit of its kind in the United States serving children, adolescents and young adults with special needs related to autism spectrum disorder, learning disabilities, ADHD, developmental delays, abuse and emotional challenges. The Help Group’s 14 specialized day schools, offer pre-K through transitional age programs for 1,500 students on six campuses in the Los Angeles and Orange County areas.

An innovative and customized approach to K-12 education

The Help Group Learning Center is a K-12 program which provides a tailored educational curriculum for families who have opted to homeschool their children.

The Learning Center is designed to support the needs of exceptionally bright children with social and learning differences whose ability to reach their full potential in typical school environments is impacted. Our model provides an individualized and enriched curriculum tailored to not only address areas of needed growth but also maximize strengths.

Students attend the program from Monday to Thursday, 9am-2pm. They participate in core classes including math, science, social studies, language arts, and social emotional learning. A variety of elective classes are also available.

With a small teacher to student ratio (1:6), students have the opportunity to learn at their own pace. Our program capitalizes upon individual interests and unique learning styles, empowering students to achieve their academic, emotional and social potential.
